DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1 – 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent No. 5,991,420 (Stern).

With respect to claims 1 and 9 – 10, Stern teaches a device for a telephone handset comprising an inductive coil for generating a magnetic field for a hearing aid and a pick-up coil (see Abstract). It is not clear whether the device is on the cover of the mobile phone or placed elsewhere (Col. 2, lines 43 - 45). An end of the mobile phone could be the cover. However, even if the cover were not where the device is attached, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to incorporate the device wherever it was deemed necessary. See also, Col. 1, lines 49 - 59 and Col. 2, line 49 - Col. 3, line 16.

Claims 2 and 7 – 8 describe well-known covers for mobile phones.

With respect to claim 3, not amplifier circuit 18.

With respect to claims 4 - 6, note Col. 2, lines 35 – 38. Connectors are notoriously old in the art and it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill to incorporate connectors in anyway deemed necessary.
